

Fast track your M2M application with Lantronix® & Wyleless™ bundled solution

Together with Wyleless™, Lantronix® is offering a bundled solution that will enable you to easily develop, test and deploy M2M applications on mobile networks in the United States (other regions to follow shortly).

Lantronix® PremiereWave® XC Intelligent Gateway and Application Server

The Lantronix® PremiereWave® XC Intelligent Gateway and Application Server, together with Wyleless network services, provides everything you need to connect to the Wyleless secure mobile data network and begin development and testing of your M2M applications.

Access all the benefits of Wyleless Managed Services

Easier to develop: Remote devices with static IP addresses can be accessed from your application, either over the internet or via secure VPN.

Easier to deploy: Design once, deploy many times around the globe. Direct access to over ten GSM and CDMA mobile network operators in six countries and growing, with roaming in over 120 global markets.

Easier to manage: Full access to Porthos™, Wyleless' web-based management software, which gives complete control and visibility of all your remote and mobile devices. Porthos is a full-featured end-to-end M2M management and billing system that can be white-labeled to your brand. Powerful APIs are also available to integrate key functions directly into your application.

Easier to support: Access to the Wyleless support team with its proven track record in helping hundreds of customers accelerate their application development. Wyleless offers 24x7 support with a fully redundant, secure and fault tolerant next generation network with four NOCs in three countries. Wyleless is fully PCI and HIPAA compliant.
